

Q: Experts, not the government, should make decisions according to what they think is best for the country.

